Safety Matters LLC.

Pat Achurra has worked in the construction industry since 1976, working summers with his father in the Masonry trade. After college, in 1981, he returned to the Masonry trade where he worked as a Hod Carrier for the next 19 years, 13 of those years with Lund Masonry in Seattle. In 2000 he became the Safety Director for Lund Masonry. He held that position until accepting a position with the Department of Labor and Industries in 2003.

Pat spent the next three years investigating accidents and fatalities as well compliance inspections and complaints. In 2007 he left the Department of Labor & Industries for a position at Approach Management Services. In January of 2008 his supervisor, Jennifer Richards, left Approach to start Safety Matters and quickly realized the need for another Safety Professional. In October of 2008 Pat gladly joined forces with her.
